Make certain temporary enactments relating to Linen, A.D. 1875
Hempen, and other Manufactures in Ireland perpetual.

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the session of Parliament held in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of His Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act to continue and amend certain Regulations for the Linen and Hempen Manufactures in Ireland," for the purpose of regulating the linen and hempen manufactures in Ireland :

And whereas certain of the provisions of the said Act were repealed, and certain other provisions were made by an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the third and fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter ninety-one, for the more effectual prevention of frauds and abuses committed by weavers, sewers, and other persons employed in the linen, hempen, union, cotton, silk, and woollen manufactures in Ireland, and for the better payment of their wages :

And whereas the unrepealed provisions of the said firstly recited Act and the provisions of the secondly recited Act (in this Act referred to as "the provisions of the principal Acts") have been amended by the Acts specified in the schedule to this Act annexed :

And whereas the provisions of the principal Acts so amended as aforesaid were temporary in their duration, but in so far as the same are temporary in their duration they have from time to time been continued, and are by the Expiring Laws Continuance Act, 1874, continued until the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and it is expedient that the same should be made perpetual :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same :

1. This Act may be cited as The Linen, Hempen, and other Short title.
Manufactures (Ireland) Acts, 1875.
